

Easterly Echoes

Mrs. Douglas Steele was a visitor in Edmonton last week. She was accompanied by Mrs. Mary Steele of Wainwright.

Mr. David Holt of Edmonton spent the holiday week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joshua Holt.

At the Dormitory Parents meeting held in Wainwright recently Mrs. C. Steele was again elected as their representative to the dormitory committee.

The Sew and So Club is having a chicken supper followed by a dance at Roseberry school on October 22. Good eats should bring a good crowd.

At the recent meeting of the Battle River W.I. held at Mrs. Dootson's, the Mrs. T. and Mrs. E. Sanders were each presented with a gift.

Holiday visitors at their homes from the university were Miss Joy Enger and Mr. Keith Wakefield.

Mrs. B. Enger is a patient in the Wainwright hospital.

Mrs. Jas. Fenton had the misfortune to slip and fracture a rib.

Come and see what the country ladies can do at a bazaar to be held in Hedey's hall on October 23.

Sale to start at 3:00 o'clock. Tea will be served and there will be a fish pond.

Miss Eldred Fenton accompanied some friends to Edmonton for a holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Sanders and Foster Barton motored to Holyoke for a short visit over the week-end. Mrs. Fitzpatrick returned with them.

Mrs. Chas. Wilbraham of Wainwright was a Sunday visitor at the home of Mrs. Stougaard and Julius.

CANADIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY BLOOD TRANSFUSION SERVICE

Next week will be known as "Donor Enrolment Week" in Northern Alberta when the Canadian Red Cross campaign for more blood donors gets under way. The purpose of the campaign is to increase the present registration in those centres where blood donor clinics have already been held. It is also expected by Red Cross officials that increased registration in other areas will enable mobile blood donor clinics to visit in new centres.

Red Cross Branches will be in charge of the campaign in each district. It is expected the drive for blood donors will take place in the form of a house to house canvass.

During registration week prospective donors will only be asked to give their names. They will be notified at a later date when a blood donor clinic will be held in their district.

The Canadian Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service was organized in Alberta last year and since that time over 8,000 people in Alberta have received over 15,000 transfusions of blood and plasma. The Canadian Red Cross is now the sole source of supply for whole blood and plasma to all Alberta hospitals. Patients receive the transfusion entirely free of charge. Blood collected at clinics by the Red Cross is shipped to blood banks located throughout the province. When supplies of blood or plasma are required, hospital authorities contact the Red Cross and blood of the required group is immediately despatched to the hospital. The ever present supply of whole blood and plasma maintained by the Blood Transfusion Service is credited by hospital and medical authorities with the saving of countless lives since the service was organized by the Canadian Red Cross.

Red Cross officials point out that the present donation of blood taken is smaller than the wartime donation. They also stated that dieting prior to the giving of blood is no longer necessary. When attending the clinic prospective donors are first tested to determine whether they are physically fit to give blood. There is no pain or discomfort in giving a donation and it takes only a few minutes of the doctor's time. The age limit for blood donors is 18 to 65 years. Anyone not registered is urged to contact their local Red Cross.

Items From Kinsella And District

Visitors to Kinsella for the holiday weekend from Edmonton included Mr. and Mrs. C. Bawden, Miss E. Long, Mr. F. Long, Mr. J. Long, Miss B. Arkinstall, Mr. R. Tweedie, Mr. and Mrs. H. Grimoldby and family.

Mrs. W. Briggs, Bobbie and Donnie of Viking, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Cormack.

Mr. and Mrs. Milne, who have spent the past three months in the States and Eastern Canada, returned to their home here Wednesday morning.

Mrs. J. Murray recently spent two weeks visiting relatives and friends in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Ness and children of Calgary were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Corbett last week.

The annual chicken supper sponsored by the Ladies Aid of the United Church will be held on Friday evening commencing at 6 p.m.

Miss D. Stenson spent the week-end at her home here.

Word has been received that Grant Edwin Thayer of Irma district has won 4th prize in his age group in the Medicine Hat Baby Contest. The infant is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thayer and the photograph was taken on a holiday trip in July.

On Monday evening, October 4, 1948, the Irma Social Credit group held its monthly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Fenton. Mrs. Fenton is first vice-president of the Wainwright Constituency Social Credit Association.

Mrs. Fenton gave her report of the constituency annual convention held at Czar.

General business of the group was conducted and several new subscriptions for the Canadian Social Credit were taken.

There was a general discussion on provincial affairs and after adjournment to meet again Monday, November 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hager.

A nice lunch was served. Members of the group are invited to be at the November 1 meeting.

W.M.S. FALL RALLY HELD AT RYLEY

Mrs. I. S. Reeds, Mrs. M. Knudson, Mrs. J. Peterson, Mrs. A. Enger, Mrs. R. Simmermon, Mrs. A. A. Fischer and Miss Reeves all attended the W.M.S. fall rally at Ryley.

Well attended by various groups from Wainwright, Tofield and Holden, besides those from Ryley and Irma, and a very enjoyable and profitable day was spent with the Presbyterian president, Mrs. Hamilton, of Wainwright in the chair.

Mrs. Carter of Wainwright led the opening devotionals; Mrs. Hay of Ryley gave the address of welcome; Mrs. Smith of Wainwright read the secretary's report and Mrs. A. Enger of Irma gave out the supply allocations.

After dinner Mrs. Smith of Tofield led the worship service and Mrs. Campbell of Holden gave an address on "Stewardship." Mrs. Reeds of Irma spoke on "Temperance" and Mrs. Richard reviewed the W.M.S. Study Book for this year, "West of the Ganges."

Mrs. Stinson, literature secretary for this presbytery, spoke on the various reading material available for W.M.S.

Supper was then served and the ladies left for their homes more certain than ever that W.M.S. is worthwhile.

Glen-Coa Gleanings

Thanksgiving weekend made several of district, holiday minded. The fine fall weather, was an added incentive to take a trip.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Gulbraas and children motored to Consort to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Fluevog made Stettler their goal to visit friends there.

Meanwhile the following went by train to Saskatoon in order to be present at the dedication ceremony of Luther Seminary in that city. Mr. and Mrs. M. Reitan, Mr. and Mrs. J. Halvorsen, Mrs. O. Likness and Miss Eunice Saitre.

We were all very much impressed with the beautiful new building and the thirty splendid young men who are attending this institution. Outstanding speakers at the banquet on Saturday evening and also for the special services on Sunday were: Dr. Asgaard, President of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of America, Dr. Thomson, President of the University of Saskatchewan, three other presidents of Theological colleges of the city, many other church officials, and the mayor of Saskatoon, Mr. MacPherson. All in all the occasion was one of great solemnity and the many fine addresses impressed one of the importance of this event.

Mrs. L. Fuder and children of Edmonton have been visitors of Mrs. Lindquist.

Mr. Vernon Peterson is visiting friends and relatives here now. He has been at Victoria this past year.

Sharon Ladies' Aid is holding its annual sale of work and tea in the church basement on Saturday afternoon, October 16th.

The fall Circuit Meeting of the Lutheran Church will be held at Sharon from Oct. 22 to 24. Rev. Grundahl of Camrose is the special guest speaker. Other pastors and speakers also have a part. We hope that there will be a good turnout with Friday afternoon.

Mrs. G. Theroux. Visitors are always welcome.

Mr. Hewer of the British and Foreign Bible Society will be in Irma and district next week. He will show a film entitled "The Book for Tomorrow," also scenic films and a film of the royal wedding. These will be shown in the Irma United church on October 20, Albert school October 21, and Roseberry school October 22.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Cole who passed away October 13, 1947.

We have only a memory, dear mother

Bank of Montreal Crop Report No. 14

Alberta—Some rain received in northern sectors delayed harvesting, but throughout the Province cutting is now generally completed. Crops are approximately 75 per cent threshed and a few dry days should bring operations to a successful conclusion. Feed conditions are satisfactory and cover crops are reported good. Sugar beet lifting is in progress, with expected yields somewhat below last year's, but of above-average quality.

Saskatchewan—Threshing of all crops is completed. Yields show a wide variation, with the best returns in the eastern and north-central districts. Wheat is grading mainly No. 2 Northern. Rain is badly needed and its lack is hampering fall cultivation. Pastures are in poor condition.

Manitoba—Harvesting is completed, except for some fields of flax which are being left for frost to kill the weed growth. Yields of all grains have proven very good. Flax, however, suffered considerably from rust. Lifting of a good crop of sugar beets has commenced. Top soil is extremely dry.

HYMN BY IRMA COMPOSERS SUNG AT UNITED CHURCH THANKSGIVING SERVICES

One of the highlights of the Thanksgiving service at the United church here was the following hymn called "God's Love," words by Arthur Elliott and music by Mrs. Hurst.

Arthur Elliott, who is a 17-year-old grade 12 student here, was born and raised in the Irma district. One of his school chums saw these verses and asked permission to show them to Mrs. Hurst. Mrs. Hurst wrote some very fine melody and harmony for them, and the result was the very pleasing hymn sung at the Thanksgiving service by Mrs. Simmermon and Mrs. Hurst.

GOD'S LOVE
Cast your cares upon the Lord,
For Jesus cares for you.
God's Holy Scripture tells us so,
And this I've proven true.
God made the heaven and the earth,
And God made me and you,
And since He loves the earthly things,
Likewise does He love you.

Heaven is high above the earth
And much there lies between,
But God's love never fails us
When our soul has asked Him in.
God ever watches over us
For fear that we should stray,
His tender presence ever with us
While we tread the narrow way.

Jesus came down here to dwell,
And die on Calvary's tree.
It was His love that made Him go
And suffer there for me.
And if I love Him when I die
I shall not suffer hell,
But shall ascend the heavenly way
And with my Saviour dwell.

Havens For The Displaced

ONE OF THE GREATEST and most grave of the human problems arising from the war is that of the hundreds of thousands of displaced persons left in the areas of Germany, Austria and Italy now occupied by the Western powers. Accommodated in camps, these people have awaited the fulfillment of the promise that they would some day be given the opportunity of finding new homes and making their living in lands where their freedom and independence would be assured. Although this intention has not been altered in any way, and havens have been found for many, a great many more are still waiting to be placed, after more than forty months in "D.P." camps.

Some Returned To Native Land

In spite of the fact that the International Refugee Organization reduced the number of people in its care by 244,000 during the first year it was in operation, 600,000 remained to be placed at the first of May of this year. Of the 244,000 removed from the camps, 77,000 were repatriated and 167,000 emigrated overseas and to various parts of Europe. It was intended that homes should be found for all displaced persons in the Western-occupied areas inside of three years, and it is apparent that the work will have to be considerably accelerated if this time limit is to be met. Lack of shipping space and the fact that many of the 21 countries which had participated in the formation of the Refugee Organization were willing to accept, for the most part, only able-bodied workers for specific tasks, have made the problem more difficult.

More Progress Now Expected

It is now expected that there will be greater progress in this undertaking as shipping space becomes less scarce and more countries show willingness to accept displaced persons and it is now hoped that 380,000 will be placed during the next year. Twenty per cent. of these are expected to go to Western Europe, where the need for additional labor is urgent. An equal number are expected to go to Latin America, while the United States will admit 205,000 during the next two years. Australia plans to accept the same number eventually, and has provided for the arrival of 20,000 next year. Canada has expressed the intention of opening her doors to 60,000 next year, and to 40,000 in succeeding years as long as the need remains. Canada has already admitted 40,000 displaced persons and Canadians have reason to be proud of the part their country is playing in solving this great world problem.

Saskatchewan Men Buy Alberta Coal Mine

EDMONTON. — A group of businessmen headed by E. J. Kern of Regina, have bought the Lakeside Coals Ltd. mine at Robb, Alta., 33 miles south of Edson, Alta., for about $300,000, it was learned here. A disastrous fire closed the mine four years ago and it is estimated it will cost about $250,000 to put it in operation again. The mine produced a hard type of coal.

Other Saskatchewan men concerned in the purchase are Roy D. Trumble, James Mortenson, both of Swift Current; Alvin Booker, Lorne Kerr and J. A. Matheson, all of Gull Lake.

900,000 WEAR GLASSES WITHOUT EXAMINATION

LONDON.—Nearly 900,000 elderly persons in Britain who wear glasses have never had their sight tested, Sir William Douglas, secretary to the ministry of health, said.

He said that during a medical survey in Wolverhampton one-third of those questioned said their glasses were unsatisfactory, while one-sixth wore glasses bought from a general store.

How To Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

A can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you if you suffer from the itching soreness and burning pain of piles. My Hem-Hold treatment is different. Hem-Hold is an internal medicine — a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It corrects the conditions inside your body that cause you much intense pile soreness and pain. But I'll be honest with you. Hem-Hold cannot help some pile-sufferers more than others so I want to prove to those who are not satisfied. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them as much as they expect it to. If Hem-Hold helps you, surely it's worth the small cost. Otherwise I want you to have your money back. I'll take your word. I find people are honest about such things. I ask you to use Hem-Hold as directed for 10 days. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual plan but Hem-Hold is an unusual medicine. It has been sold on a refund promise for over 20 years. I want to ask you to make many refunds so it must help most folks who use it. At all drug stores.

BLAME CHICKEN HAWK FOR CHILD'S DEATH — A marauding chicken hawk was blamed by provincial police for the death of five-month-old Jeanne Neault, as she played in her carriage on the front veranda of her parents' home at Grande Mere, Quebec. While the child's mother, Mrs. Jean Neault, was busy with her housework, police believe the hawk, which already has carried off a number of chickens in the district, landed on the baby's forehead and tore its face to ribbons. Mrs. Neault found her child dead when she went to bring it in. Part of the baby's nose had been torn away and the chin partially claved. —S.N.S. photo.

Church In Need Of Ministers

VANCOUVER.—United Church of Canada is 405 ministers short and finds it hard to find men for its expanding work.

Low pay causes the public shortage, some commissioners suggested at the church's general council here. Rev. Allan H. Perry of Toronto said the meagre pension is "preventing the young men from joining the ministry."

Said another Toronto minister, Rev. H. G. Tuttle: "Too many of our ministers, particularly younger men, are leaving the ranks, some for other fields of service and others to ministries in our sister church across the international boundary."

Butter Supply Assured For Winter Months

OTTAWA.—Assuring Canadian consumers of an adequate butter supply throughout the winter months, the Canadian Government has completed arrangements for the purchase from Denmark and Australia of an additional 6,000,000 pounds of butter, bringing the total amount to be imported to approximately 15,000,000 pounds, it was announced here.

In making the announcement, Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said he thought this importation of butter would take care of the minimum requirements during the seasonal shortage in this country.

Canadian Press Survey

Most Farmers Across Canada Harvested Better Crops This Year

CANADIAN farmers have just about finished the harvest of a bumper crop. A Canadian Press survey showed that all provinces except British Columbia and Nova Scotia expect more valuable yields than in 1947. Despite late planting, due to a rainy spring and an exceptionally dry period in late summer, most crops are above average.

The farm labor supply remains scarce in all provinces. National employment offices reported that in most instances they were unable to provide enough harvest workers through transfers from one province to another. Displaced persons have helped to alleviate shortages.

Wages to farm laborers increased all across the Dominion. On the prairies workers got $6-$8 daily. In New Brunswick a fast potato-picker can earn $20 a day.

The Nova Scotia apple crop, estimated at 1,000,000 barrels, is about half normal. Other crops grew well after a slow start. The apple crop may be worth $4,000,000.

New Brunswick may have one of the best crop years in history. Potatoes, the biggest cash crop, are expected to equal or surpass the 1947 yield of more than $16,000,000.

Quebec farmers will harvest one of their best yields. Estimates place the value at more than last year's $162,000,000. The estimated value of Ontario field crops is $386,881,000 compared with $280,340,000 last year. The fruit and vegetable yield is down from $56,415,000 in 1947 to about $55,443,000.

Good Quality Saskatchewan crops are better in both yield and quality. About half the marketed wheat is grading at No. 1 Northern. Only 11 per cent. received this grade last season. Wheat is averaging 13 bushels to the acre, compared with 12.2 last year. Alberta crops are reported better than in 1947 when they brought in $238,000,000. About 117,000,000 bushels of wheat will be harvested at an average yield of 18.5 bushels to the acre—better than expected after a wet spring and late planting. In British Columbia's Okanagan Valley there is a big crop of good-quality apples. Other fruit crops were adversely affected by a wet summer, and reduced quality is reported in some cases. It is expected that the total crop value will fall far below last year's peak.

Berchtesgaden --- Mountain Home of Hitler Today Only Hollow Shell of Past "Glory"

By ESTHER V. W. TUFTY
(Written Specially for this Newspaper by Central Press Canadian)

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany. — Hitler still lives here. Bavarians are seen daily poking around the ruins of Hitler's house for a bit of glass from the big broken picture-window which framed one of the most glorious views of mountains in Europe.

Hitler's house is only half way up the mountainside. On the top is the famed Eagle's Nest, so high it's usually in the clouds. The Nest was not a place "to live", but a secluded retreat where der fuhrer or Eva Braun (who used it more) could throw a tea party. (He never served anything stronger or allowed anyone around him to smoke.)

The climb to the Eagle's Nest is so steep only an army jeep, with skilled mountain-wise drivers can make it with safety. Even then, the jeep took us only to an entrance in the side of the mountain. A walk through a tunnel (heated) brought us to a very fancy bronze-walled elevator, which took us to the Eagle's Nest.

That elevator was something. Not only beautiful with a perfect round crystal mirror so Hitler could preen his moustache, it was a double-decker!

The elevator operator lifted the trap door in the floor. Shoved, we could see the ladder to the lower floor where his bodyguard rode, concealed, to protect Hitler.

The exterior of the Eagle's Nest is not war-touched. However, from the inside the enemies of Hitlerism — and his worshippers — have carried off everything.

All that is left is a black marble fireplace (chipped for souvenirs), his bust recently brought back by military government, and some kitchen equipment used by the three men who guard the property which now belongs to Uncle Sam.

The government has put up many signs trying to deter Bavarians, soldiers and sightseers from destroying what is left. But no Chic Sale in the rural wilds of Kansas has more names scribbled on the walls.

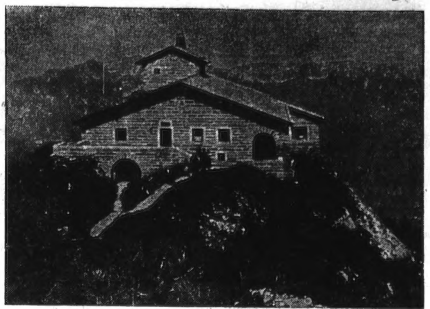

Complete panels have been torn down. One revealed a hidden safe and that spurred on the hunt. The hardware was dug out of the doors. Light fixtures are gone and the wires hang out of the wall.

The French got to the Eagle's Nest first. The American troops came later and finished the job of devastation.

It is cold up on that mountain top in the Bavarian Alps. But Hitler was never uncomfortable the few times he "dared to make the climb". One of his former employees, an engineer, told us Hitler came "probably not more than six or seven times, but Eva Braun sometimes stayed for days."

The engineer showed us how the mountain was heated. A power plant, a submarine engine, and facilities enough to keep warm a town of 50,000 are still operating in that mountain.

The native Bavarians tell conflicting stories about Hitler and the times he spent at his house and the BERCHTESGADEN, Germany—The fuhrer seldom visited it though it was a favorite haven for friend Eva Braun.

LAY-EE-OO!—Tufty gets yodeling lesson from two Berchtesgadeners.

nest. All agree, however, this is the part of Germany he loved most.

Der fuhrer came to that mountain to hide in the early days when he was struggling for control. Some local person saw him, reported to the police, and he was thrown into prison.

The mountain belonged to the No. 2 Nazi Martin Bormann who later gave the property to Hitler as a birthday present.

Hitler spent much time at his picture-window house, halfway up the mountainside, reached by an excellent road it took two years to construct.

Even from the ruins one can imagine the beauty of the great living room dominated by the window-view. Here Hitler entertained many international notables.

This house was his favorite and one of his last orders to his SS (Shutz Staff) troops was to pour oil on the structure and burn it so none of its glories would be enjoyed by the conquering enemy.

However, that fire — and all the bombing — did not disturb the five miles of tunnels that still are passable inside the mountain. One leads to the bomb-proof shelters of Hitler — the next door the suite for Eva

Braun, whom he was said to have married just before he died.

These two Hitler buildings are by no means all of the Nazi kingdom that reigned on the mountain.

Hermann Goering had a house, too, as did the original owner, Bormann.

The "best of the SS troops" (by Hitler standards) had almost a city of their own. Some of the grandeur of that place have been rescued and can be seen in the hotels down in the village of Berchtesgaden.

All of this cost a pretty penny. However, the natives reply, with some truth and unfortunately some lingering loyalty to Hitler, "but not as much as did the palaces of our kings!"

Unveil Monument In Memory Of Famous Indian

A cut-stone monument in commemoration of Crowfoot, the famous Blackfoot Indian chief who is often referred to by historians as "a statesman in paint and blanket", was unveiled on September 26 on the Blackfoot Reserve near Gleichen, Alberta. The tablet has been provided by the National Parks Service of the Department of Mines and Resources on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board.

Crowfoot, leader of the South Blackfoot tribe, the most influential chief in the Blackfoot Confederacy during the historic period which included the coming of the Northwest Mounted Police in 1874, the negotiation of the Blackfoot Treaty in 1877, and the Riel Rebellion in 1885.

Professor M. H. Long, Alberta representative on the Historic Sites and Monuments Board, represented the Department and the Board at the ceremony. The unveiling ceremonies were under the auspices of the Southern Alberta Pioneers' and Old Timers' Association.

A bronze tablet on the monument bears the following dedication to Crowfoot:

"Great Chief of the Blackfoot Confederacy.
Born about 1830.
Died 25th April, 1890.

Fearless in war but lover of peace, he promoted amity among the tribes of the plains and friendship with the white man. Under his leadership the Blackfoot ceded to the Crown title to their tribal lands in 1877, began to adopt a sedentary life and remained loyal during the North West Rebellion of 1885. His nobility of character, his gift of oratory and his wisdom in council gained for him the title, 'The Father of his People'."

Canadian Farmers Are Producing Fewer Hogs

OTTAWA.—The once highly prized Canadian porker is taking a back seat in the country's farming operations.

The Bureau of Statistics reports that Canadian farmers are producing fewer hogs, and that the number on Canadian farms on June 1 this year was only 4,463,000 against 5,473,200 last year and 8,148,000 during the peak wartime year of 1943. The hog population dropped in all of the nine provinces.

Leading to the decline, the fall pig crop last year was about 91 per cent of that in 1946, while large numbers were sent to market early this year.

The bureau said reports at June 1 indicated this year's fall pig crop would be almost 22 per cent below the 1947 figures.

While the bureau gave no reason for the decline in hog numbers, agricultural officials say it is due to a combination of high feed prices last fall and low returns for pork.

More Territory To Canada

Two Islands Discovered By RCAF Off West Coast Of Baffin Island

ADDITION of more than 5,000 square miles to Canada's territory, the result of discovery of two previously unknown Arctic islands by an R.C.A.F. photo survey plane, was announced by Air Force Headquarters, Ottawa. The two islands, the larger of which is between two and three times the size of Prince Edward Island, lie close together in Foxe Basin off the west coast of Baffin Island, north of Hudson Bay, and were found by the crew of a Lancaster of 413 Photo Survey Squadron from Rockcliffe, engaged in the aerial photography of Baffin.

Discovery of the islands came on July 14 when the Lancaster photo plane was returning to its base at Frobisher, on the southern end of Baffin Island, after a photo trip over Melville Peninsula. While flying over Foxe Basin Flying Officer A. E. Tomkinson, D.F.C., of Victoria, B.C., the navigator, sighted land through a break in the clouds. Thinking his navigation had gone amiss, for the aircraft should have been above water according to existing air charts, he revised his estimated time of arrival at Frobisher. The Lancaster was still 40 miles from base, however, at the revised and expected time of arrival, and it was decided that night after the aircraft had landed that an unknown land area, taken to be part of Baffin Island, had caused the error in navigation.

A reconnaissance was later made of Foxe Basin and the two islands were marked on the map and photographed from the air. It was thought at first that the islands were mud flats or shoals which appeared only at low tide, but further flights showed them to be definite land masses, covered by the usual northern vegetation of moss and lichen, with numerous small lakes. The larger of the two islands is approximately 85 miles long and 75 miles wide, the smaller being 20 miles long and 10 miles wide.

R.C.A.F. aircrew operating in the Far North have been credited with making many changes to existing maps, which in some areas give only an approximation of the country. Last year the crew of an Air Force Canoe noted many variations from the map in the coastlines of Victoria Island, Prince of Wales Island, King William Island, and Boothia Peninsula, and aerial reconnaissance sketches were turned over to the Department of Mines and Resources to serve as basis for corrections in the maps. The previous year the crew of another Canoe on photo operations "re-discovered" the lost Spence Islands in Foxe Basin, which geographers had been unable to position accurately and their position determined.

R.C.A.F. photo survey planes have this year broken all records. WITH

IF ALL THE YEAR WERE SUMMER—

If all the year were summer
Or every month had been June,
If there were always sunlight
And starlight and a moon.
How could we hear Spring thunder
Or April rain on eaves?
Or thrill to handy wood smoke
Of burning autumn leaves?

We would not know white Yuletide
Or hush of falling snow,
If all the year were summer
No cherry hearth would glow.

On crisp October evenings,
And after winter's sting,
If all the year were summer
How could we wait for spring?

—Gertrude Callaghan, in New York Times.

New Employment Record Established In Prairie Region

New employment records have been established this year in the Prairie Region, and the number of those seeking employment is at an all-time low. This most encouraging report was released recently by Fred J. White, Regional Superintendent of the Unemployment Insurance Commission.

The 30 Prairie offices of the National Employment Service now have two jobs for every man seeking work while for the women the number of employment opportunities and the number of those seeking employment are about equal.

There are many contributing factors to the present employment picture and Mr. White listed just a few: bumper crop yields, an all-time high in the value of building permits and the public works now underway by municipal and provincial governments.

The employment situation fluctuates much too quickly for us to be able to anticipate future conditions. Mr. White continued, but we would not be surprised if this present picture continues for at least a month or two. Quite a few jobs have been provinces because high school and university students have returned to their courses. The mail order houses will soon be preparing for their busy season. Then too, shortly we shall have woods operations opening up in the Lakehead district of Ontario as well as in the northern sections of the Prairies, and this will provide employment for some thousands of workers.

Mr. White said that a good indication of the employment situation other than that shown by statistics was the fact that 4,989 people have been placed in employment by the N.E.S. in the one week period ending September 18th. Mr. White said that he believed the placement of nearly 5,000 workers constituted a new N.E.S. record in the Prairie Region. 1,500 of these placements were made by the Winnipeg N.E.S. office.

HOMEcoming WEEKEND AT UNIVERSITY

Extensive plans, rapidly nearing completion, promise an elaborate Homecoming Weekend at the University of Alberta on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, October 15-17. Special recognition will be afforded the class of '23 this year celebrating their silver anniversary, although any and all graduates are cordially invited. Students' Union Vice-President, Miss Elaine Brown, and director of Homecoming Weekend, Mr. Mackie Gilmour, are sparing no effort to make this the third annual gathering of graduates equal to, if not better than, the Homecoming of 1947.

TORONTO STARTS ANTI-RAT WAR

Alarmed at the staggering destruction by rats annually, the city of Toronto, under the leadership of Mayor Hiram McCallum, has launched a ruthless extermination campaign against its rodent population—estimated to be several million in number.

A number of committees have been set up to handle various phases of the campaign. Industrial concerns, schools, clubs, churches and welfare groups have undertaken a complete educational campaign of talks, films and distribution of literature.

Several elements of practical rat destruction are being covered. Pest control authorities agreed that the first essential is good housekeeping which includes proper collection of garbage, refuse and trash. Sanitation ordinances are being rigidly enforced to accomplish this in the Queen City. Merchants are being advised to ratproof their premises.

CANADA'S HEALTH PROGRAM

Our governments, Federal, Provincial and Municipal, spend over 90 million dollars a year on various projects to keep Canadians healthy. This is only the beginning of a full national program to prevent and cure disease.

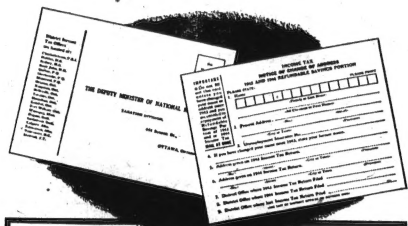

Perhaps because of the complications of modern life, mental illness has greatly increased and effective methods of treatment are being used.

Political observers in Ottawa are watching closely the federal by-elections in Rosthern, Saskatchewan, and Algoma East, Ontario. Liberal, C.C.F. and Social Credit candidates are running in each constituency and all parties are discussing the political trends in view of the general election that must come within two years and many predict earlier. Of the three parties running, only the Liberals can be classed as a national party—the C.C.F. having no organization in one third of the constituencies of Canada and the Social Credit Party are farther back in the race.

On September 29th, Mr. Robert Ker Kennedy, formerly of Hawick, Scotland, and Viking, Alberta, passed away at his home in Lytham, Lancs, England, at the age of 73 years. Interment took place at Burton, Westmorland, England. He is survived by his wife and two sons, John Kennedy of Lytham, Lancs, and David Kennedy, of Viking, Alberta.

The late Mr. Kennedy came to the Viking district in 1911 and settled on a farm southwest of town. During the first world war he served with the British forces, the Scottish Horse and the First Royal Dragoons from 1914 to 1918 and saw service in France, Egypt and the Dardanelles. From 1921 to 1945 he remained on his farm.

The memory of the late Mr. Kennedy will be cherished in the minds of many of the early settlers of this district. His cheery disposition and happy faculty of making friends among the people of this district was one of the outstanding qualities of his staunch character that endeared him to a host of friends that regret to hear of his passing.

The death of Mrs. Sarah Margaret Nearing on Friday, October 8th, 1948, removed from our midst another of the pioneer women of this district. Mrs. Sarah Margaret Nearing was born May 28th, 1881, to George and Eliza Thomas at Arran Township, Bruce County, Ontario. She later moved to Saskatchewan where she was united in marriage to Mr. William Chauncey Nearing on January 12th, 1908, at Bowman, North Dakota, where they made their home until coming to the Clover Lodge district in Alberta, north of Viking, in 1918. They resided there until Mr. Nearing's death on October 16th, 1941, after which Mrs. Nearing moved to Viking where she lived until her passing on October 8th, 1948.

Funeral services were held on Monday, October 11th, at 2 p.m. from the Viking United Church, the Rev. A. Willis Cann, officiating. A large gathering of friends and neighbors attended the services to pay their last respects to a kindly neighbor and long time friend. The United church choir was in attendance and assisted in the singing of the hymns, and Mrs. Cann sang a favorite hymn of the deceased as a solo.

Mrs. J. L. Slavik, left last week for Grand Forks, North Dakota, where she is visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dobry.

Mr. George H. Barber of Trenton, Ontario, has been visiting his sister, Mrs. H. Hodgins of this district. George finds a lot of changes in the country since he left 12 years ago, but was glad to see many of the old timers again.

Rev. H. G. Lester, recently the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Armstrong, left for his home at Warkworth, Ont., Tuesday evening, October 8th.

Stan Jones was over from Vermilion for a visit during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Eric Lefsrud of the Camrose College enjoyed the weekend at home.

Discoveries Of Noted Scientist In Alaska May Help Solve Mysteries Of Plant, Animal Life

MONTREAL.—A recently-concluded visit to Alaska on part of a long-term project by Dr. Nicholas Polunin, Macdonald Professor of Botany at McGill University, may help solve a number of scientific mysteries regarding plant and animal life in polar regions.

The trip, which was made in R.C.A.F. and U.S. Air Force planes, also took the noted scientist over the North Pole where he attempted to collect representative samples of moulds, yeasts, and other fungi, as well as bacteria and pollen grains. Whether or not he has succeeded in his task will only be known after the plates have been examined by appropriate specialists.

The method of collection was unique. The front of the plane in which the Alaska-based scientist flew over the pole was fitted with a special steel plate to which a cylindrical sleeve was attached. Into its front were fitted special sterile glass plates, containing a smear of a substance that remains sticky even at a temperature of 90 degrees below zero. Dr. Polunin hopes that he has caught what he was after. A somewhat similar method was successfully used last year, but on the more recent occasion more complicated apparatus was necessary in view of the speed and duration of the flight and the low temperatures encountered.

Examination of the plates has already begun, and Dr. Stuart M. Pady, Associate Professor of Botany, and Dr. C. D. Kelly, Assistant Professor of Bacteriology, are in charge of this part of the project.

Among the other problems which the trip may help solve is the origin of winds, an item of great importance to meteorologists. The reasoning is that the geographical distribution of certain minute plants and animals is known and should, therefore, the same plant or animal be found floating in the air over the North Pole, the origin of the air mass in which it is found will have been determined. And, to a considerable extent, forecasting for the North American Continent, depends on wind movements over the polar regions. Samples, incidentally, were collected at heights varying from 3,000 to 25,000 feet.

Another interesting aspect is the origin of wheat rusts, one of which causes damage to wheat crops which in Canada alone is estimated to have reached as high as $200,000,000 in a single year. Already last year wheat rust spores were found among the samples from the vicinity of the Arctic Ocean coast and this year's observations may extend their area and, it is hoped, further man's knowledge about the origin of this disease.

Professor Polunin won't speculate on the results of his trip. "I only collect the samples and my colleagues and our association examine them," he told The Montreal Star. He did, however, admit one thing: "The work has great potentialities."

Hesperus was the name given by the Greeks to the evening star, Venus.

STAMP CORNER

By JAMES MONTAGNES

Belgium has issued a stamp to the liberation of Antwerp four years ago, (top left), and to men of the resistance movement, (top right). Syria has issued a flag stamp in natural colors, (top centre). Russia has issued a set to its agricultural workers, (lower left and right). Canada has issued a set to early administrators, early governor Magon being featured, (lower centre).

Syria is the latest country to issue stamps featuring its flag in natural colors. The green, white and black horizontal striped flag, with three red stars on the white strip, is featured on new stamps showing a Syrian soldier.

Many countries have issued flag stamps in natural colors, either on flags or those of neighboring countries. Thus the United States in 1943 issued 13 flag stamps of countries overrun by German and Japanese troops. Flags in the series were those of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Norway, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Belgium, France, Greece, Yugoslavia, Albania, Austria, Denmark and Korea.

Another such long set of flags was issued by Paraguay in 1939 and again in 1945. The stamps were printed in the colors of the flags of Paraguay, Uruguay, Peru, United States, Chile, Brazil and Argentina for the 1939 set, and with flags of Paraguay, Panama, Venezuela, Colombia and Peru on the 1945 set. On each stamp was the flag of Paraguay with that of another country.

Panama is another small country which has gone in for multi-colored stamps, some of which have featured its own flag and that of other countries. In 1906 the lowest value of the pictorial set featured Panama's flag in natural colors. In 1938, to mark the United States' 150th anniversary of the Constitution, a set was issued showing Panama and United States flags in color. In 1942 a flag was issued to Costa Rica, with flags of both countries in full color. That same year a new pictorial set had one flag stamp in color.

In Europe few countries have issued multi-colored flag stamps. Russia in 1944 marked the United Nations with a stamp showing the flags of Great Britain, United States and Russia in color.

Other countries which have issued multi-colored flag stamps include Curacao, which issued a set of Netherlands and House of Orange flags in 1941; China, which issued a set showing Chinese and United States flags in color in 1939; Eritrea in 1941; Liberia on 50 cents value of 1906 set; the short-lived republic of Haiti

United States volunteer firemen stamp.

In 1939, and Egypt in 1946 featuring in color the flags of Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

Many countries have issued stamps featuring flags in single colors. Who's Who on Postage Stamps... Canal Zone has issued three stamps to early administrators. George Whitfield Davis (1839-1918) was an American general who was first governor of the Canal Zone, from 1904-05. Charles Edward Magoon (1861-1920) was an American lawyer, governor of the area from 1905-06. John Findley Wallace (1881-1921) was an American civil engineer, and first chief engineer of the Panama Canal from 1904-05.

New issues... Ascension Island, St. Helena and Falkland Islands have had some color and design changes in lower values of current issue... United States issued a stamp to volunteer firemen on Oct. 4. Hungary has issued an airmail set to world-famous writers, including Shakespeare, Goethe, Byron, Voltaire, Victor Hugo, Poe, Mark Twain, Sander Peipal, Leon Tolstoy and Maxim Gorky... Belgium has issued stamps, to commemorate the liberation of Antwerp in 1944... Egypt has issued a stamp to mark the first flight from Cairo to Rome... Pakistan has issued new stamps for its independence... Sudan has issued stamps marking 50 years of its postage stamps.

Ed. Note—If you have any old Canadian, Newfoundland or British North American stamps for sale or exchange write to our Advertising director, Mr. Pratt Kuhn, 120 Wellington St. W., Toronto 1, Ont., who is an amateur collector.

Modern Romanticism Is Fall Fashion's Theme

Inspiration out of the past moulds the modern Fall fashions of today. The handsome street dress at left received a fashion award. It is of coffee and black textured jersey, cut with a gracefully long skirt, sloping shoulder and snugly fitting waistline fastened in front with over-sized copper hooks and eyes. The floating-panel suit of tweed, (centre), is collared with black velvet, has a double-breasted jacket paired with a slim skirt, broken at the back by a wide separate panel swinging from the waist to the hemline. The grey top coat-dress with high rolled collar, has a plunging neckline, rounded shoulders and inverted pleat in the back with buttons down both front and back skirt. A blue dyed beaver hat with bluebird wing completes the ensemble.

Each year, home of the dean of sea serpents, is having terrific competition this year. Folks are seeing marine monsters almost every day in Georgian Bay, the Gulf of Mexico and the kitchen sink.

Sea serpent spotters seem to have only one thing in common—they always forget to bring a camera along.

Folks have been seeing sea serpents ever since Noah went yachting but none of the monsters has so much as given an autograph.

So many of the dinosaur-like denials of the deep have been sighted this summer that it's possible now to establish statistics on what the standard or typical sea serpent looks like. The aquatic demons are always between 50 to 100 feet in length and have more horns than a brass band.

When sighted, a sea-serpent alike.

ways turns toward the boat from which it is being spotted, hisses a few bars from the latest hit tunes, then dives out of sight for good. This proves that the sea serpent is, without question, the biggest coward on earth.

The best weather of the summer season is that which occurs during the two weeks immediately after your vacation.

Africa, we read, is enjoying an extensive industrial boom with many government developments. Now that it is aglow with prosperity we can hardly continue to call it the Dark Continent.

BUTCHER'S IDEA WAS CERTAINLY ORIGINAL LOS ANGELES.—The electric fan in Edward Renert's butcher shop isn't exactly for the purpose of cooling him or the meat he tossed on the scales.

Renert, 40, pleased guilty to short-weighting a customer. The bureau of weights and measures charged that the butcher trained his fan on the sensitive scales, and the fan stream depressed the scales.

Electricity is cheaper than meat, but Renert must pay a $150 fine or go to jail for 30 days.

Fall Born Pigs Need Extra Care

Fall born pigs raised indoors with no access to the sun are likely to suffer from rickets, even though they are well supplied with a good mineral supplement containing calcium and phosphorus. The reason is that the proper utilization of these two minerals depends upon an adequate supply of vitamin D, and vitamin D is produced by the action on the skin of the ultra-violet rays from the sun. Pigs which have to be confined indoors during winter are deprived of the beneficial effects of the sun, and the sunlight which passes through ordinary window glass has largely lost its vitamin producing properties.

However, cod liver oil serves as a substitute for sunshine as it is an excellent source of vitamin D, says W. J. Cuthbert, Dominion Experimental Station, Prince George, B.C. Half a tablespoonful per pig daily of a standard feeding oil containing 200 units of vitamin D is recommended as a prevention against rickets. The disease may be recognized by stiffness of the legs, lameness, bowed thighs and unthriftness and if these symptoms develop, cod liver oil should be included in the ration without delay. It is a good plan to feed cod liver oil to fall born pigs as a general preventative until the pigs weigh about 100 pounds. Cod liver oil of feeding grade may be obtained in bulk and is cheaper than the refined product sold for human use.

Grafting was known to horticulturists at least two centuries before Christ.

ON THE SIDE —By E. V. Durling

Oh, what a loveliness in that mother's eyes
Gathers in that one moment's space
While peeping around the post she spies
Her little darling's laughing face.
O, mother's love is glorifying
On the cheek like sunset lying;
In the eyes a moistened light,
Softer than the moon at night.
—Thomas Burridge.

Know any lunkie young fellows or beautiful healthy young women who were incubator babies? Somebody should write a book titled, "They Were Incubator Babies", dealing with the after life of such infants. Young mothers now having incubator babies they are worrying about would certainly be cheered up by such a book. This item inspired by hearing of a San Diego, Calif., baby so small at birth on June 1 of this year that it could be cupped in its mother's hand. This child, Patricia Bourne, weighed two pounds and a half at birth. She now weighs four pounds and is expected to grow up to be a sturdy and good looking young woman.

HIGH PRICED DRINK
What would you think of paying $16 for one drink—a glass of charcuterie? That's what it would cost you to sip ashore of the 150-year-old charcuterie they have at the Tour d'Argent restaurant in Paris. A bottle of this charcuterie is priced at the equivalent of $800. The Tour d'Argent, which specializes in pressed duck, was established in 1682 and is still going strong. Because of the devaluation of the franc, it is now possible to have dinner at this celebrated eatery for the equivalent of $4 or $5. I dined there in 1939. I forgot what the check came to then. I had just been out to Longchamps playing the solid horse for place and had my pockets stuffed with francs. So I viewed the check total casually.

AMONG THE MARRIED
Not so long ago a Chicagoan who thought his wife was 28 years old when he married her found out she was 45 at the time. Now something similar has happened in Southampton, Eng. A 27-year-old fellow fell in love with a woman who said she was 28. And so they were married. Now the man has found out his bride was not 28 but 49. Remarkable the way some females can rejuvenate their appearance. Perhaps they should be added to the things every young man should know some sure-fire method of telling a woman's age.

Addicts Cause Loss To Run Into Millions

VANCOUVER.—Canada's 3,000 to 4,000 known drug addicts cause the country economic losses running into "many millions of dollars yearly," K. C. Hosieck, chief of the National Health Department's narcotic control division, declared here.

In an address to the Chief Constables Association of Canada, Mr. Hosieck said he reached his estimate through examination of existing figures.

"This loss is born, in large part, by business generally through robbery, shop-lifting, as well as other forms of fraudulent activity," he declared.

"To the indirect loss... must be added the cost of enforcement, including apprehension, conviction and imprisonment, of narcotic offenders," he continued.

Mr. Hosieck said responsible police officers had reported that it might cost an addict from $20 to $30 a day to obtain his drugs and that, to obtain this money, he would have to steal goods of about three times this value.

On the basis of the cost of illegal drugs, daily doses of addicts and the amount obtained by an addict disposing of stolen goods through a fence, 2,000 addicts using a grain a day would be responsible for an economic loss of about $42,000,000 a year, Mr. Hosieck said.

There are, however, many factors involved in this aspect of the drug addiction problem and most of these are of unknown magnitude or may be only very inaccurately estimated," he continued. "In view, therefore, of these circumstances, many figures of economic loss computed by the method I mentioned, must be accepted with some reserve."

"Even if they were drastically reduced, they still add up to very considerable figures, particularly when considered in relation to costs of any proposed treatment facilities."

If You Drink Think Of This

CHICAGO. — If you are one of those "two-drinks-don't-hurt-me!" guys, here's something to think about:

The 1948 edition of "Accident Facts", statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council, shows that one out of every five drivers involved in fatal motor vehicle accidents in 1947 had been drinking.

Special studies indicate that drivers who indulge in only a few drinks are three or four times more likely to have an accident than those who refrain from drinking if they drive. And drivers who are heavy drinkers are 55 times more likely to have an accident.

The yearbook also points out that one out of every four adult pedestrians killed in traffic accidents last year had been drinking.

"MELUCINE" HATS

An entirely new type of millinery felt has been produced by Hugh Beresford of London for his new autumn range of "Town and Country" hats. Called "Melucine" it is made from a mixture of marabou and goose feathers and closely resembles the fluffy "Beaver felt" so popular 40 years ago. It is wonderfully light and supple. The new fashion "Town and Country" hats are mass-produced but each one is finished by hand so that each has the quality and distinction of a model while being in the medium price range.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY

MARKED BY TAG

By JOHN T. KIERAN

YES, Sergeant, Flypaper Haley was saying, "this job was pulled by Joe Tabor, all right. There hasn't been another crackman in town for a year. Seems like birds like him would have more sense after getting their wings clipped once. He's back, you know, to marry that girl."

"Yes. And it's too bad for her," the old sergeant said. "She's certainly stuck by him, I'll say that. And he repays her by getting in deeper than ever within a week after he gets out."

"I'll say he's in deeper'n ever. I don't guess he figured on killing old Hagan. Just thought he'd crack the safe and have a lot of money to get married on. He no doubt knew the store'd had a big sale that day."

"Well, I'm sorry for her," commented the other. "After all the disgrace and her sticking by him the two years he was in stir. It kinda looks like he'd get it for good this time."

He and Flypaper—who had gained his nickname by his persistency on the trail of a criminal—went down to Tabor's cell. The young fellow was sitting disconsolately on his bunk. He seemed a decent appearing, average looking fellow. The face he turned to the men was not at all furtive or sly. The girl was there with him, standing outside the cell. Traces of tears were on her face. She looked at the sergeant half in fear, half in appeal, twisting a thin handkerchief between her fingers.

"Well Tabor, you certainly got yourself in good this time, didn't you?" asked the sergeant.

Tabor didn't answer at first. Two years in prison had taught him tactfulness and caution. Then finally he answered. "Sergeant, I admit I had it coming to me two years ago, even if I wasn't in on the actual sale before I met this girl, and before I knew it I was doing time for the whole bunch. They deserted me, just let me ride. But when I saw how she stuck to me, I'd avoid even the appearance of evil after I got out."

"Too bad you couldn't have stuck to your resolution like she stuck to you."

Tabor had nothing more to say, and in a minute more Flypaper and the sergeant left. The last thing the latter saw was the girl's trying to hold back more tears. "It's a shame, a shame," he muttered. "An attractive girl. She oughta get more out of life than this."

The safe in the Central Clothing Store has been blown into Saturday night. Old Hagan, the merchant policeman, hearing the explosion, had opened the door with his skeleton key and rushed in. A bullet had ended his life. Earlier in the evening Flypaper Haley had seen Tabor swing off a freight, and that was evidence enough for him who did it. And to add what further proof was necessary, Andrews, manager of the clothing store, had quickly identified Tabor as the man who had peered into the window late that night when all but he had left the place.

The sergeant went down to the Central just as Andrews was unlocking the door. "Hard luck," he greeted the slender, pleasant young man. "But we might still be able to get that money back for you."

"I hope so!" Andrews replied fervently. "Else it'll probably be the gate for me as manager. I had no business to leave that much money in the safe. But we were so busy with the sale about three o'clock that I forgot to go to the bank."

"About what time did it happen?"

"Oh, well, it was after midnight, anyhow."

"That would have given Tabor plenty of time to have done it after he hit town."

"Yes. It wasn't done any earlier than that. And Tabor's the man I saw peering into the window. I recognized him again the minute Haley took me to see him."

"I see it that you were here until about twelve, then?"

"Yes. And the lateness was why Tabor took so little pains to conceal himself when he looked in, I guess. Probably thought everyone was gone." He paused. "But I happened to have quite a bit of work to do, getting ready for Monday's trade, taking the sale tags off of everything left from the sale, and all that."

They went over to the shattered safe. The sergeant examined some of the charred pieces of clothing that had been piled over and in front of the safe to muffle the explosion. "Set smoldering when the soup went off, I see." He paused. "It was bad enough for him to do this without killing Old Hagan."

He straightened up. "Let's go over to the jail. Maybe two of us can make him talk. I've got something here that may throw some light on the fraud."

In a few minutes they were in his office. Flypaper had his feet cocked on the desk, and the sergeant sat down, putting his up on the other side. Rolling a cigarette around his mouth he regarded his fellow officer with a triumphant eye. Andrews took the one extra chair.

"Andrews," the sergeant asked, "You say you stayed in the store until after quitting time to take the sale tags off the left-overs, is that so?"

Canada To Get Dried Fruit From Australia

OTTAWA. — Canada will receive one-sixth of Australia's 1948 production of dried vine fruits, principally miltanas and currants, Australian high commissioner's office said.

Canada's share will be 16,126 tons out of a total of 81,000 tons.

Canadian imports of fruit from Australia will include 300,000 cases of tinned pineapples, half of which have already arrived.

Australia will also ship 77,800 cases of canned fruits — apricots, peaches and pears — to this country.

Father Has No Control Of Drinking, Poker-Playing Sons

VANCOUVER. — Report that as many as 15 boys, teen-age and younger, gather at a city home for poker games and drinking was made to police.

Police checked complaint of R. A. Wall, that neighbors' children were destroying his fence and other property.

Several residents told of the poker gatherings at a nearby house where two boys, 16 and 11, lived.

Father of the two boys said he had "no control" over them.

Police are investigating.

STORE THIEF'S NERVES PROBABLY FROZEN

MONTREAL. — It took a man with cold nerve to pull off this robbery: He took 50 bricks of ice cream, plus six gallons of the stuff in bulk, from a store. The store is operated by Edgar Belanger.

He Stuck To His Resolution Like She Stuck To Him.

one could claim them at the sale price Monday morning."

"Exactly. If I hadn't..."

"Well," the officer broke in irreverently, "I lied to you just a little. I wanted to get you to jail, peaceful like."

"What do you mean?" Andrews rose in anger from his chair.

"Careful now! Next time you try to shift robbery and murder onto an innocent man, be sure you don't tell a false story why you hung around the scene of crime. You had to mean to say anything about that. But you had to when I asked how you happened to be there late enough to see Tabor. But listen! You yourself blew the safe so the robbery would look like an outside job. And all those pieces of clothing you piled around it still had sale tags on 'em!"

MEDICINE HAT, Alta. — British capital, totalling 640,000,000 may be invested by British industrialists in Alberta. Major James J. Ros, economic analyst, and Morgan Walton, British electrical engineer, are on a survey of Alberta's material resources in the interest of British industrialists.

WINNIPEG. — Qualified teachers are at a premium in Manitoba. The provincial department of education already has issued permits to about 500 persons with grade XI and XII standing who attended a six weeks' training course this summer.

LEADER, Sask. — A series of meetings in agricultural district No. 11 have been arranged by V. Rea, agricultural representative, and the respective agricultural committees in each of the municipalities in the district, the meetings to take the form of farm variety shows.

VICTORIA. — Every province in Canada except Prince Edward Island contributed to the influx of families into British Columbia during September. W. R. Bone, regional director of family allowance, announced. The figures show that 520 families receiving allowances came to B.C., while 370 left, a gain for B.C. of 150. Saskatchewan led, sending 144 families and taking 78.

EDMONTON. — Unwelcome tourists are reaching Alberta from Saskatchewan and points east and J. H. Brown, provincial entomologist, is warning Albertans to watch for them. He says the province, believed the only comparatively rat-free section of the northern hemisphere, is in danger of losing its title.

ESTEVAN, Sask. — Albert Blondet walking on a hill near his home one and a half miles southwest of Estevan discovered some scattered bones believed to be those of a human. Mr. Blondet said there was no evidence of a coffin, and it was believed the grave might be that of an Indian.

MANITOBA CROPS AVERAGE $4,000

WINNIPEG. — Average net return for each Manitoba farm during the 1946 crop year likely will approximate a record $4,000, the provincial department of agriculture reported. The 1947 figure, on the basis of 52,500 farms in the province, recorded up to that time.

The department added that in no year in the province's history has so big a percentage of the crop gone into storage with so little loss by weather deterioration.

RED CROSS OPENS OUTPOST HOSPITAL

ARBORFIELD, Sask. — An outpost hospital at Arborfield, 35 miles northeast of Tisdale has been opened by the Red Cross to serve emergency and maternity cases. A home in the village was renovated during the summer, and now contains six beds, a nursery, X-ray facilities, a laundry, and quarters for the staff. Miss Marie Kilden is nurse in charge.

PLASTICS INDUSTRY GROWING AT FAST RATE IN CANADA

OTTAWA. — The manufacture of plastics in Canada is climbing into position as a prominent and fast-growing industry, according to the latest figures released here by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The Bureau states that the gross factory value of plastics and plastic products turned out by the Dominion in 1946 showed an increase of 36 per cent. over the previous year's total. Plastic manufactures in 1946 were valued at $21,240,000 as compared with $15,604,000 in 1945. The agency said the number of plants engaged in this industry rose from 46 in 1945 to 78 in 1946.
